Stop being a hypocrite. You make a bunch of outlandish claims on the haters pages that you have, and then add a "disclaimer" that pretends claim that everything you wrote may not be true.

I am using a throwaway because representatives from Suburban Express will target me if I don't use one. Your username is a great example of how you are targeting someone.

He is following the predictable pattern of making a racist comment about a particular person that Suburban Express strongly dislikes.

↓ /u/jalkdfknoqiweuroi is probably another throwaway created by the owner of Suburban Express. The account is currently less than a day old.

Also, the owner typically responds to posts about Suburban Express with a post sympathetic to Suburban Express using a new account.

↓ The issue is that the way that the posts criticize the University and the fact that the writing style used in the post is similar to the style that Suburban Express has used in the past.

Suburban Express has a history of filing FOIA requests and creating posts using new accounts. These two posts fit the writing pattern that Suburban Express typically uses on this subreddit.
